South Africa struggles with apartheid-era imbalances, corruption and AIDS (fourth in world).

OM workers are embedded in eight remote mountain villages in Lesotho. They are evangelizing and starting discipleship groups with the goal of 35 new believers in the year ahead.

Pray

- South Africa is now a pluralist society and Christians are no longer tied to the power structures. Churches that cannot adapt are shrinking in number and impact. Pray that hundreds of churches will partner to engage in same-culture outreach.
- Half of the Asian population are Hindus; one-fifth of which is now Christian. Many still need freedom in Christ. Pray for a spiritual awakening.

join.ca@om.org

- For decades, OM South Africa has mobilized, trained and deployed thousands of young workers from the continent and abroad in rigorous discipleship. Become a student and perhaps then a teacher, playing a role in shaping a new generation of Jesus followers.

Give

- Travelling to churches, hosting training workshops, investing in media all need finance. Your support can also be a great motivator for local workers.
